1

Read the Insights Paper individually and as a team. Share the paper with other people managers to build understanding.

Why? First hand insights matter and can inform your responses in profoundly important ways.

2

Share Follow My Lead with your employee community.

Why? An employee experiencing domestic and family violence could disclose to anyone in the workplace. This resource supports responders today – any role, any time.

3

Share My Safety Kit with your employee and customer community.

Why? There can be an enormous cost and loss to telling someone about violence. Don't leave employees without information until they ask or disclose. Take the information to them. They may never share what it means to them now or later.
