

MY SAFETY KIT

This resource is designed to support the reflections of people who are, or may be, experiencing domestic and family violence.

Insight Exchange acknowledges the Traditional Custodians of the land on which our work and services operate and pay our respects to Elders past and present. We extend this respect to all First Nations peoples across the country and the world. We acknowledge that sovereignty of this land was never ceded. Always was, always will be Aboriginal land.

SUPPORTS

Please note My Safety Kit is a resource not a service response. A range of supports and resources are listed in this resource. See Page 32 onward.

My Safety Kit is for all people. Insight Exchange respects the diversity of all sexualities and gender identities including but not limited to; Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Intersex, Queer and A-Sexual + identities as well as Heterosexual and Cisgender identities.

IN AN EMERGENCY

In Australia, call Triple Zero (000)

In New Zealand, call Triple One (111)

One thing, or a whole lot of things, might not be right for me in my relationship.

I might be feeling uneasy, worried, unsafe, exhausted, fearful or confused about what's going on and what might happen next.

I might want to talk with someone about what's going on. I might want to talk through my thinking and the questions I have been working through in the privacy of my mind.

My Safety Kit is designed to support me (at my pace), with information and reflection questions about how I see things and what I might be thinking about, when looking ahead.

My Safety Kit is designed to build on my:

- existing safety awareness
- self-assessment of my safety
- existing safety strategies with possibly some new/extra ideas.

A healthy relationship includes equality.

The features of a healthy relationship apply to all types of relationships, including friendship, family, work relationships and intimate partners.

My Safety Kit is designed to support me to reflect on these questions:

- What did I hope for and what is going on in this relationship?
- What kinds of things am I having to do to stay safe and well?
- How constricted has my life become?
- Why is this happening? Is it me?
- What decisions are important to me about my safety, liberty and wellbeing?
- What is available to me and who can support me?
- What is domestic and family violence?

WHAT DID I

RELATIONSHIP?

Honesty is possible where there is safety.

I am wondering about some things...

Are my rights and boundaries respected?

Are we sharing the work in the relationship?

Are we both included in making decisions?

Am I able to safely express my thoughts and feelings?
Is there safety for everyone – enough to allow comfort and some discomfort?

Can I safely talk about what I am and am not comfortable with?

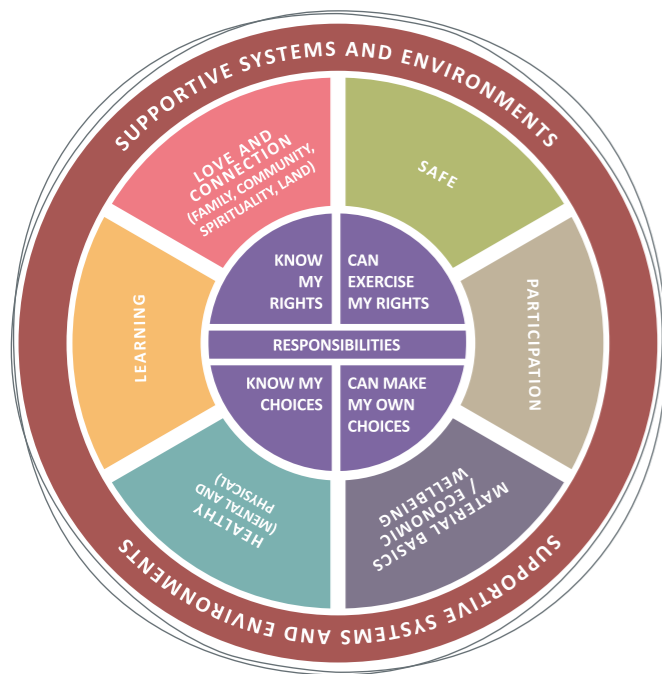

Can I be open and honest about my intentions, feelings or desires?

Do we each take responsibility for our own actions?

Can I trust they will respect me and be honest and supportive?

Do I have the support and encouragement to achieve my goals and dreams, and personal growth?

There is no place in a healthy relationship for controlling, abusive and violent behaviour.

My wellbeing

“My wellbeing - and that of my children - matters to me and this includes my safety.

Being ‘safe’ is more than being physically safe – it includes all aspects of wellbeing.

Each area of my wellbeing will also change over time as my needs, priorities and circumstances change.

Violence can undermine my wellbeing across many areas of my life.”

“The person using abuse and violence violates my rights and restricts my choices, and limits my capacity to act and put into action my own decisions.”

“I have the right to:

- live in peace and security, free from violence and abuse
- seek support
- be given information about things that impact me
- be asked for my consent and for my information and experiences to be managed with confidentiality
- be treated respectfully and with dignity
- make my own choices and decisions

I have ‘agency’ and the capacity to act effectively.

When I am more aware of my rights and options, I am more able to make informed choices.

My choices are not only informed by my rights but also by my responsibilities (which may be linked to my civil, cultural, family, spiritual values).”

I am already active in resisting the violence and abuse, building safety for myself and others, and managing risk.

Self-assessing my safety and watching for changes in risk, and forecasting risk.

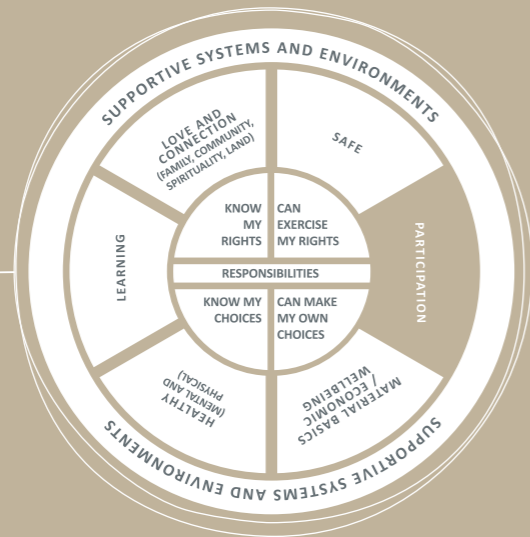

Building my safety awareness through information and experience.

I am constantly...

Inventing and implementing ways (tactics/strategies) to keep myself and the people I care about safe.

WHAT KINDS OF THINGS AM I HAVING TO DO TO STAY SAFE AND WELL?

HOW CONSTRICTED HAS MY LIFE BECOME?

What kinds of things am I having to do to enable my safe participation in society, community and family?
And my children’s participation?

What kinds of things am I having to avoid doing to stay safe in relation to my participation in society, community, and in my family?

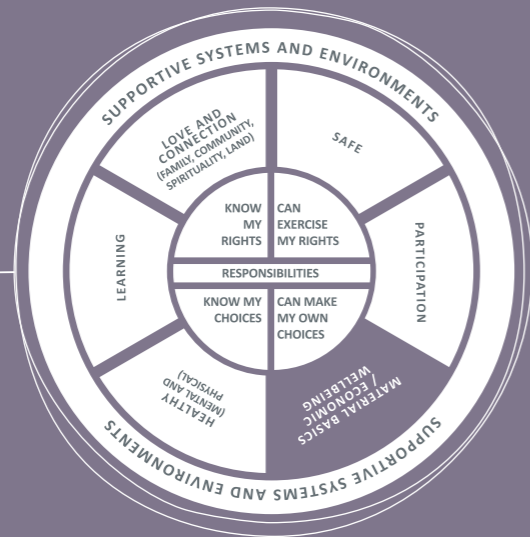

Who knows about my circumstances, and supports my responses?

“My opportunity to participate, have a voice and be involved as a citizen, in the community and in my family, may be limited.”

Are things changing?

Do I want to talk to anyone about this?

Do I want something to change?

What kinds of things am I having to do to ensure I have access to material basics and support for my economic wellbeing?

What kinds of things am I having to do to provide for my children's and help them stay safe and well?

Who supports me in taking the steps I need to take?

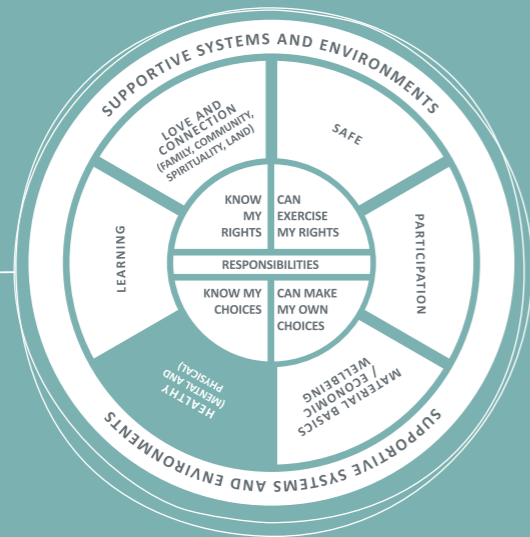

“The person abusing me tries to suppress my resistance by limiting my access to material basics, such as food, housing, clothing, and money, as well as assets and economic opportunities including study or employment.

If they can undermine my material and economic wellbeing, they will be more able to use violence.”

Are things changing?

Do I want to talk to anyone about this?

Do I want something to change?

What kinds of things am I having to do about my physical and mental health to stay safe and well?

What kinds of things am I having to do about my children's physical and mental health for them to stay safe and well?

Who understands I am not "ill" but suffering from violence?

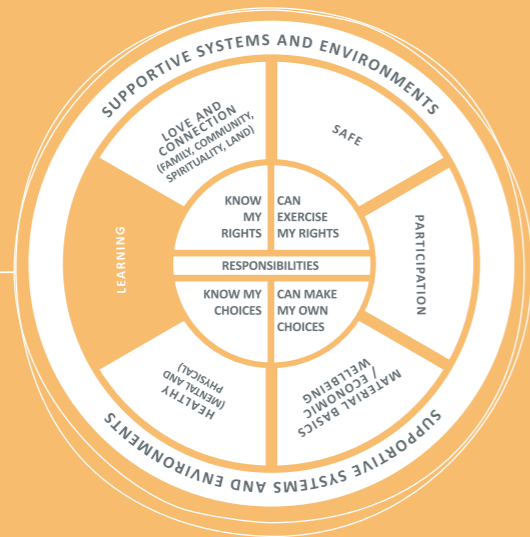

“My body and mind suffer from the violence and coercion. I can become physically unwell, fearful, desperate, lonely, sad, and angry.

Although my despair is one form of resistance to the violence, I may be seen as ‘clinically depressed’ or as having another disorder. My feelings are ethical emotional responses to violence.”

Are things changing?

Do I want to talk to anyone about this?

Do I want something to change?

What kinds of things am I having to do, or not do, about my learning and personal growth to stay safe and well?

What kinds of things am I having to do about my children's learning and growth for them to stay safe and well?

What kinds of things am I forced to do, to deal with negative responses from others?

“Because I am forced to deal constantly with violence and abuse, and possibly with negative responses from others, I experience fatigue and isolation.

Sometimes I cannot help but ignore or avoid activities that could help me learn and develop as a person because of competing priorities related to violence.”

Are things changing?

Do I want to talk to anyone about this?

Do I want something to change?

“My family relationships, friends and connections with community, spiritual connection and connections to land may be under threat.

The person committing the abuse may isolate me from those I love and manipulate others against me, and undermine my relationships including my parenting. They may threaten or abuse my children, friends or family, pets, property, and things that are important to me as a means to control me. They may try to use my beliefs and spirituality to control and isolate me.”

What kinds of things am I having to do about my relationships and connections to stay safe and well?

What kinds of things am I having to do about my children’s relationships and connections for them to stay safe and well?

How am I remaining connected to others and to what I know is right? Even if only in the privacy of my heart and mind?

Are things changing?

Do I want to talk to anyone about this?

Do I want something to change?

What kinds of things am I having to do to stay safe?

What kinds of things am I having to do to support my children's safety?

What responses from others make me less safe or more safe?

“I don’t like what is going on. I am resisting and responding to the abuse, trying to manage it. I didn’t attract it, I don’t accept it, but I can’t stop it.”

My safety is compromised, and I may be in danger of physical harm or being injured or killed.”

Are things changing?

Do I want to talk to anyone about this?

Do I want something to change?

“It is my right to be informed so that I can make informed choices and decisions about experiences and opportunities that relate to me and my children.”

The NSW government uses the Domestic Violence Safety Assessment Tool (DVSAT) to ask about ‘known’ risk factors relating to ‘danger’. Other states and territories may use similar or different sets of questions for the same purpose.

tinyurl.com/NSW-DVSAT

These questions might be used by some of the services you seek support from. The risk factors in the list are not exhaustive or conclusive.

The items listed may indicate that greater risk of physical harm is possible, particularly where multiple factors are occurring or intensifying.

You know your experience best; what it has been, how things are and what might happen next or if you change things. Talking about your experience can help to reveal the kind of danger you might be in, and the injustice you are experiencing.

When you share details about how you have been resisting and responding to the abuse and violence this can help to reveal how deliberate the abuse and violence is and how it is costing you and your children.

WHY IS THIS HAPPENING?

IS IT ME?

© Guy Downes

“I have been thinking about what is happening in my life and what it all means.”

It's your life and you are closest to what is going on. You are experienced in anticipating the patterns and tactics that the person abusing you uses against you and uses against the people you care about.

You can see how the person abusing you adjusts their strategies to suppress your resistance and responses to their abuse.

Their actions to abuse you may be similar to what others experience but are also completely unique and specific to you and the people you love.

“I have been wondering if the person abusing me is in control of what they are doing.”

With rare exceptions, violence is deliberate. It, requires intentionality, effort, and choice to be violent and abusive. The person might say they don't want or mean to hurt or harm you, yet they do.

When they make excuses for how they abuse you, that tells you that they know it is wrong. That's why they hide it from others or hide their behaviour behind excuses.

“I have been wondering if the violence and abuse is my fault.”

You are not experiencing violence because of a personality type or characteristic you have. You don't 'attract' abuse. You might not be able to stop the violence and abuse but that doesn't mean you 'let it happen'.

“I have been thinking about whether I could have done more, or could be doing more, to make it stop.”

The responsibility to stop the violence rests with the person being abusive - even if the community and social media around you seem to suggest it is up to the victim of abuse to reduce, stop or escape the violence.

Everyone experiencing violence, resists and responds to the violence in their own ways. You might respond in ways that you hide from view and opinion in case you experience more judgement, danger or harm.

What you do may not always make sense or seem logical to people around you, but you are doing all you can with what you can, to create safety, avoid humiliation and more loss.

WHAT DECISIONS ARE IMPORTANT TO ME ABOUT MY SAFETY, LIBERTY AND WELLBEING?

I know that being safe is no simple or single decision, or task.

I might have a decision to make, or I might want to keep thinking about my experiences and what my best options are.

I can use the decision-making tool (over page) on my own or with someone I feel safe to talk things through with.

Using the decision-making tool might be useful for:

- thinking through my hopes and worries, with or without someone else listening
- pausing to write down my thoughts so I can see a fuller picture when I am facing complex decisions
- collecting more ideas and strategies to safely make the steps I am hoping to make.

BENEFITS	HARM/THREAT
WHAT ARE THE BENEFITS OF TAKING THIS STEP? IF I DO THIS WHAT WILL BE THE BENEFITS FOR ME (AND MY CHILDREN)?	WHAT ARE THE POTENTIAL HARMS OR THREATS IN THIS STEP, AND WOULD THAT BE TO MY SAFETY AND WELLBEING (OR MY CHILDREN'S)?
STRATEGIES	ON BALANCE
FOR THIS PARTICULAR DECISION, IN WHAT WAYS COULD I REDUCE THE POTENTIAL HARM OR THREAT? WHAT ARE THE STRATEGIES I AM ALREADY USING OR COULD START USING IF I MAKE THIS STEP?	ON BALANCE, DO I NEED TO DECIDE HOW? WHO COULD SUPPORT ME WITH THESE?

There can be so much going on that it might be hard to remember what happened, when, and to collate my records.

Whether I am making a decision now, later or ever, it might be useful to document my experiences of actual and possible threat or harm, and or changes to my safety and wellbeing as a result of abuse, violence or injury.

This might be useful to me later on when I am:

- making a decision
- needing to provide a record of evidence.

I can use one or more of the apps that are designed to more safely and securely store my records. These may help me to be more confident that they won't be 'seen' by others or used against me.

One example:

Arc

Arc is an app (or web platform) that supports you to safely collect evidence of family violence. It enables you to note events that make you feel threatened, scared, or unsafe in your relationship. Search for Arc in the Apple or Google Play app stores or visit: arc-app.org.au

There might be some things I can do in the meantime to build on my safety while I think about my options.

I can use one or more of the following links (and many more) to be aware of ideas and ways to build on my safety.

WHAT IS AVAILABLE TO ME AND WHO CAN SUPPORT ME?

Responses from others are significant and play a part in my safety.

When someone is controlling and abusing me my situation is complex. No matter how much I try, no matter what ways I resist and respond, the abuser overcomes my resistance. Just because I cannot stop the abuse doesn't mean I let it happen.

I might want to talk to someone about what is going on or to keep thinking about things first. I might want to think about who I want to talk to, and what I will say.

If or when I do reach out to someone (a person or a service), I don't have to make any decisions, or all my decisions at once. And no-one should be expecting me to.

I might want to talk with someone about my experience and all the things I am doing already to stay safe. I might want to talk about where I might need support from others.

I might want to talk to someone on the phone, or to talk with someone in person.

What is domestic and family violence?

Domestic and family violence refers to behaviour that occurs in a current or former intimate partner relationship, a domestic or family relationship, or in an extended family or kinship group.

It can be perpetrated by a partner, spouse, family member, carer, house mate, boyfriend or girlfriend.

Domestic and family violence is behaviour in one of these relationships which is threatening, abusive, violent, coercive or controlling; causing a person to live in fear and to be made to do things against their will. Domestic, family and sexualised violence can happen to anyone. It can take many forms.

Some of the behaviours that may represent domestic and family violence include...

- Emotional or psychological abuse
- Physical violence
- Sexualised violence
- Reproductive coercion or abuse
- Economic abuse
- Stalking and intimidation
- Technology facilitated abuse
- Spiritual or religious abuse
- Systems abuse

My Dignity – My body is mine

My Dignity is an information and reflection resource about sexualised violence. My Dignity is for anyone who may be experiencing, or has experienced, sexualised violence and for anyone who may be responding.

Wherever it is difficult to tell someone about domestic and family violence, it may be even more difficult to tell someone about sexualised violence. The intent of My Dignity is to provide information, support reflection, share lived experience insight from others, and signpost to contacts and supports.

Voices of Insight Collection

The Voices of Insight Collection is a series of original artworks inspired by the Insight Exchange Voices of Insight narratives. The initiative is designed to illuminate visual metaphors and symbols used by Insight Exchange participants as part of how they describe their lived experiences of domestic and family violence to inform social, service and systemic responses. Each of these artworks was developed by collaborating Artist Louise Whelan and is informed by the participants who shared their voices of insight.

After opening the collection, click on a specific image to open the associated lived experience narrative.
