

LEADERSHIP ROADMAP

RESPONSES TO DOMESTIC, FAMILY AND SEXUALISED VIOLENCE

PURPOSE OF THE LEADERSHIP ROADMAP

The Leadership Roadmap is a resource designed to complement the Futures Framework.

The roadmap is designed to support organisations and institutions in setting out a sequence of work to implement the Futures Framework.

The Leadership Roadmap is a guide only. Each organisation engaging with the Futures Framework will vary in their development and progress in response to domestic, family and sexualised violence.

We acknowledge the Traditional Custodians of the land on which our work and services operate and pay our respects to Elders past and present. We extend this respect to all First Nations peoples across the country and the world. We acknowledge that the sovereignty of this land was never ceded. Always was, always will be Aboriginal land.

THE PROBLEM OF VIOLENCE

IN AUSTRALIA

Domestic, family and sexualised violence can happen to anyone and is in every postcode and community in Australia. Gendered violence affects every Australian. It impacts on the health, wellbeing and safety of a significant proportion of Australians throughout all states and territories and places an enormous burden on the nation's economy across family and community services, health and hospitals, income-support and criminal justice systems (ANROWS).

From an economic perspective, in 2015 violence against women was reported to be costing Australia $21.7 billion every year (PwC 2015). A federal parliamentary committee's bipartisan report in April 2021 said the economic cost is estimated at $26 billion each year. The Victorian Royal Commission into Family Violence recommended ensuring the centrality of victim-survivor voices in responding to domestic and family violence.

Australia's National Research Organisation for Women's Safety (ANROWS) Limited is an independent, not-for-profit research organisation established to produce evidence to support the reduction of violence against women and their children.

$2.98b

IN NEW ZEALAND

Whānau, family and sexualised violence can happen to anyone, across all communities in Aotearoa (New Zealand). Physical and sexual intimate partner violence against women is a substantial problem, as the lifetime prevalence rate of one in three women has remained stable over time (Fanslow, Hashemi, Malihi, Gulliver & McIntosh, 2021).

Gendered violence affects New Zealanders across all socio-economic and cultural groups. For many victims-survivors, this impacts on education, income, health, imprisonment and suicide rates. This translates into an enormous burden for the government, across emergency, specialist, justice, housing and health services (Ministry of Social Development, 2019).

Family violence has a significant human and social cost for many individuals, whānau and communities in New Zealand. In 1994 the annual economic cost was estimated at $1.2 billion (Snively, 1995). In 2014 the cost of pain and suffering for victims of intimate partner violence was estimated at $2.98 billion (Kahui & Snively, 2014). The Backbone Collective Report recommends listening to the voice of experience, as this is the key to ensuring New Zealand's response to family violence is safe and effective (The Backbone Collective, 2020).

YOUR SOCIAL LEADERSHIP

'Social leaders' of systems, services, organisations, institutions and communities understand the power of knowledge, courage and morality to forge and support change. 'Social leaders' don't wait for obligations or for others. They take up their leadership ethically, holistically and practically.

Organisations and institutions are not neutral to the problem of domestic, family and sexualised violence. Understanding violence, becoming informed, recognising our role and the possibility of complicity, can shape how we close gaps, build safety and stop violence.

UNDERSTANDING OUR PART

"If you're not part of the problem, you can't be part of the solution."

"If we cannot see how what we are doing or not doing is contributing to things being the way that they are, then logically we have no basis at all, zero leverage, to change the way things are -- except from the outside, by persuasion or force."

Adam Kahane, author of Solving Tough Problems: An Open Way of Talking, Listening and Creating New Realities

Organisations and institutions are integral to uplifting responses to domestic, family and sexualised violence.

PLAYING OUR PART

"The Committee recommends that the next National Plan promote and enhance a whole-of-society response to family, domestic and sexual violence that involves businesses, community groups and other non-government bodies, as well as governments."

Recommendation 7.2.209

What we understand about domestic, family and sexualised violence informs how we respond; it influences how we design products, services and systems. It influences how we communicate about those products, services and systems.

Imagine the difference it would make for victims-survivors if all workplaces, businesses, family, friends and services understood the part they play.

STARTING OR RESTARTING TODAY?
LOOKING TO BROADEN AND DEEPEN YOUR WORK?
