IMPROVING ACCESSIBILITY

Enabling accessibility is everyone's responsibility and is an area we can continue to improve in.

- Our website has a translation button for web page content.
- Our Videos are in our Vimeo Channel and in our YouTube channel. The You Tube versions all have closed captions in English and can be auto-translated.
- The Foundations and Foundations Applied videos on Vimeo feature Auslan sign language throughout.

VOICES UNSILENCED

Non-Disclosure Agreements (NDAs)

In July 2021 The University of Sydney Law School and Insight Exchange collaborated to host a virtual event with author of 'Going Public' Distinguished Professor Julie Macfarlane. The session was recorded and published on our Voices Unsilenced page. The session focused on the dilemma of disclosing sexualised violence and the problem of NDAs.

Through the global campaign Can't Buy My Silence \(CBMS\) we are staying attuned to global efforts to end the mis-use of NDAs.

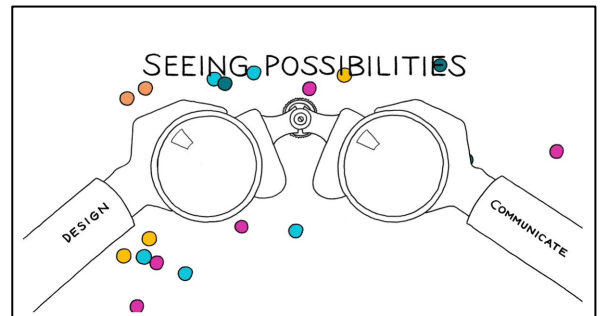

Here is an example of positive news from the UK: Universities pledge to end use of non-disclosure agreements

Ministers and campaigners back new pledge to end the use of Non-Disclosure Agreements within universities to silence complainants in sexual harassment cases Universities pledge to end use of non-disclosure agreements - GOV.UK \(www.gov.uk\)

SEEING POSSIBILITIES – New animation

What we understand about domestic, family and sexualised violence informs how we respond; it influences how we design products, services and systems. It influences how we communicate about those products, services and systems.

Seeing possibilities: Imagine the difference it would make for victims-survivors if all workplaces, businesses, family, friends and specialist and statutory services were informed and ready to respond.
